A Better Ending and other short stories for boys and girls by Doreen Tamminga (J TAM). Caleb desperately wants a cat, but his mother is allergic to them. When a stray cat shows up at the house, Caleb can't resist taking care of it – despite his mother's sneezing! Hopes are dashed when Caleb's father explains to him that he cannot expect God to always answer his prayers in the way he wants. Yet a surprising twist in the story makes Caleb eventually realize that "God does answer prayer, in His own time and in His own way." A Better Ending is a collection of short stories and poems that take place at home, in school, across the world, and in our own back yards. Each story has a theme that encourages readers to reflect on their own hearts and lives as they relate to God's Word.

Charles Haddon Spurgeon – Who is the Greatest? by Catherine Mackenzie (P MAC). 'Look unto me and be ye saved'. It was a cold winter's day in the year 1850 when a young man escaped the bad weather by going into a church. There he heard a preacher call out 'Look unto me and be ye saved.' That Bible verse was Isaiah 45:22 and the young man was Charles Spurgeon. Charles knew he was a great sinner, and that Jesus was the only one who could save him from his sin. From this day on he would preach the good news about Jesus Christ.

The Lost Ruby by Christoph von Schmid (YOUTH FIC VON). In this little story we learn that the ends never justify the means, no matter how worthy the cause. We come to realize that the most trivial lie is an evil seed, which may grow up into a poisonous weed, spread itself far and wide, and cause the misery and ruin of many. But it is also a wonderful story of confession, forgiveness, and restitution. Certainly God is able to overcome all obstacles, and He delights to do the impossible for those who "buy the truth and sell it not."

Devoted – Great Men and Their Godly Moms by Tim Challies (BIO CHA). Shaping men who changed the world. History tells of women whose love for the Bible shaped its earliest and most prominent teachers. It tells of women who were great theologians in their own right, yet whose only students were their own children. It tells, time and time again, of Christian men who owe so much to their godly mothers. Raising children to honour and glorify the Lord is the goal of every Christian mother, but how can you do that? Who can teach you? One of the best ways to learn is to read examples of women who have succeeded at the very task you are attempting.
